

---

Is Your Hotel Clean When You Arrive in the Morning?

If you're a senior manager of hotel or housekeeping operations, you know that one of the greatest challenges can be staffing your hotel properly for the night cleaning shift. Many managers have discovered that the most effective, and cost-efficient, manner in which to handle this issue is to outsource their night cleaning needs to a professional third shift cleaning service. By doing so, managers can focus on the day to day operations of the hotel cleanliness, without the worries of sourcing staff and running operations for a third shift.

If you are faced with this very challenge, consider contacting Rose Restoration International, Inc. Since 1978, Rose Restoration has been successfully servicing the hotel industry. Presently performing night cleaning services for some of the largest hotels in the country, Rose Restoration is known by many as the "standard" by which others are judged.

Thirty years ago, Richard Dasch, Founder and President, saw a need for marble and hard floor surface care that was not being met in the hotel industry. Today, most recognize Richard Dasch as a pioneer in marble and stone restoration for luxury hotels. With an acute sense for attention to detail, the services provided by Rose Restoration naturally spread to the other needs of hotel housekeepers, engineers and managers.

Rose Restoration is proud to provide experienced third shift cleaning to the hotel industry. Night cleaning is the best time to deep clean your hotel's public space and restrooms, kitchens and the back of the house. We've found the night shift serves as an ideal window of opportunity to bring your stone and marble floors up to par. Contact Rose Restoration to find out how your needs for night cleaning services can be satisfied.

About the Author: Leslie Dasch is the VP of Marketing for Rose Restoration. For 30 years, Rose Restoration has performed Third Shift Cleaning services fine Marble Restoration & Stone Restoration for some of the nations finest hotels, both modern and historical. Rose Restoration also offers Third Shift Cleaning services for luxury hotels throughout Florida and the Northeast Corridor. Your decision to choose Rose Restoration can be made with confidence. Rose Restoration's attention to detail, safety, and protection of your assets is what sets their award winning services apart from their competition.